

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. They have the right to support whichever candidate they wish. (as a corporation), when they use the public airwaves to drive home a politically slanted point of view, not only does Sinclair do a disservice to the public but they are overstepping the limits of fair access for opposing views. We as a nation deserve better.
